Dear friends,

We know that this period is full of anxiety and doubts, for you as well as for us, but we must not lose sight of the essence: working together to face the crisis. While the pandemic has affected every aspect of our life and work, the garment industry has been one of the most affected sectors in Bangladesh and around the world. In this context, Better Work Bangladesh quickly adapted its services to support, at best, the factories and workers to navigate this crisis. With the factories now operating in full scale and workers returning to work, we are acting where we will have the greatest impact to help the industry build back better after COVID-19.

We know that it is only through your support and collaboration we can make this happen, and we thank you for your continued partnership.

Thank you and enjoy the read!

Annual Report 2019

The Annual Report 2019 not only highlights factories’ assessment results but also showcases the programme’s key initiatives, partnerships, achievements and challenges from the past year. The report draws attention to Better Work Bangladesh’s efforts to empower female workers in the industry to take on roles with confidence, and also includes information on the programme’s COVID-19 responses. Readers can access the report online, to view more detailed findings and observations from 174 factory assessments completed in 2019. Better Work Bangladesh, which is a partnership between the International Labour Organization (ILO) and the International Finance Corporation (IFC), has created a strong presence in the country over the last five years and hopes to drive sustainability further. The continued support from our partner organisations and brands has propelled us to work towards a common goal of growth and productivity.

82% of female workers who participated in the GCW programme were promoted to supervisory roles

In Bangladesh, COVID-19 has thrown up sudden, unforeseen challenges with the delay and cancellation of many buyers’ export orders, the risk of layoffs and fluctuating demands in the supply chain. As factories resumed operating in full scale, we are acting where we will have the greatest impact to help the industry build back better after COVID-19.

Adapting our factory services to a new reality

Before the onset of the crisis, BWB started preparing short and long-term plans to support affiliated factories. In addition to the core factory services, we continue supporting factories and workers on crucial health and safety and industrial relations issues. Our team is coordinating information campaigns and training for national partners, providing policy advice, and helping bring the Government, employers, workers, and international buyers together to develop joint responses.

BWB’s in-person factory services are temporarily on hold, but all the services are being delivered virtually. We launched the Virtual Compliance Check service in September 2020 to test a different approach of doing Assessment.

Global Call to Action

This initiative aims to catalyse action to support manufacturers to survive the economic disruption, to protect garment workers’ income, health and employment and to work on sustainable systems of social protection. In Bangladesh, BWB helps convene tripartite constituents, IFIs, development partners, brands and other stakeholders around a set of agreed priorities and means of implementation.

COVID-19 guidance for factories

Better Work Bangladesh’s Covid-19 response is supported by the COVID-19 Management Guidance and HR Guidelines, as well as support on employment and industrial relations issues. The COVID-19 Management Guidance is helping employers, workers and respective committee members ensure and maintain safe and healthy workplaces. The HR Guideline is designed to support smooth factory operations, mitigate business risks and interruption in day-to-day business operations.

BWB’s core services and Covid-19 guidance are helping factories manage through disruption.

COVID-19 Guidance

New training courses have been added to our Training Package to raise awareness of COVID-19 and build capacity for effective response to the crisis.

Upcoming Training

BWB’s COVID-19 Resource Hub offers useful guidelines, awareness materials and free training courses.
Over the years we have taken note of the interest of buyers, factories and other stakeholders in addressing issues at the policy and enterprise level. ILO RMG Learning Hub

The Learning Hub is a comprehensive collaboration among different projects of the ILO led by BWB. This initiative is primarily aimed at harmonizing capacity-building efforts to respond to the Covid-19 crisis in the RMG sector. The first phase of the initiative was launched in May 2020 with virtual training of BGMEA, BKMEA and WRC-nominated Master Trainers, followed by a ‘training of the trainers’ rollout. Once the current situation permits, the training sessions will be physically rolled out. The Learning Hub is built on an integrated ‘One ILO framework’ to bring synergy in delivering capacity development needs of the constituents during and beyond the immediate COVID-19 response.
