Section I: Introduction and Context

1.1 BACKGROUND

Better Work – a collaboration between the United Nations’ International Labour Organization (ILO) and the International Finance Corporation (IFC), a member of the World Bank Group – is a comprehensive program bringing together all levels of the garment industry to improve working conditions, respect of labor rights for workers, and boost the competitiveness of apparel businesses. The program was launched in Haiti in June 2009 as part of the global Better Work program with country operations in Bangladesh, Cambodia, Ethiopia, Egypt, Haiti, Indonesia, Jordan, Nicaragua, and Vietnam. Better Work is mainly operating in the apparel and footwear industry in the countries it is operates. In Haiti, the program is mandatory for all apparel producers exporting their products to the US market under the HOPE II legislation.

The HOPE II law requires that Haiti, in cooperation with the ILO, establishes a Technical Assistance Improvement and Compliance Needs Assessment and Remediation Program (TAICNAR), which (i) assesses Haitian apparel factories exporting under the HOPE II law on compliance with international core labor standards and national Haitian labor law, (ii) assists these factories on their remediation efforts and (iii) provides capacity building to the Government of Haiti on these aspects. In addition, according to the HOPE legislation, biannual reports must be published to indicate enterprise-level compliance performance. Further details on the components of the HOPE II law and specific requirements regarding biannual reports being published by the entity operating the TAICNAR program are quoted in annex 1 (HOPE II Legislation Reporting Requirements). This is the twenty-fourth report under the HOPE legislation to be published in April 2022 and delayed publication to July 2022; due to unforeseen circumstances, it is being published late this year. Detailed enterprise-level data of compliance performance as required by the HOPE II legislation is included in the factory tables in the section called “factory tables.”

The two components of the HOPE II TAICNAR program aim to strengthen the labor compliance of Haiti’s industry. The first of these elements focuses on assessing compliance with core labor standards and national labor law, supporting remediation efforts, and publicly reporting each factory’s progress on the Labor Ombudsman’s register. The second element of the TAICNAR program consists of technical assistance to strengthen the legal and administrative structures for improving compliance in the industry. The scope of these services is extensive, encompassing technical assistance from the ILO in reviewing national laws and regulations to bring them into conformity with international standards, raise awareness of workers' rights, and train labor inspectors, judicial officers, and other government personnel.

To encourage compliance with core labor standards and national labor law, the legislation indicates that preferential treatment may be withdrawn, suspended, or limited by the President of the United States from producers who – even after assistance has been provided – fail to come into compliance with the core labor standards and national labor law that is related and consistent with those standards. Removal of benefits is based on the government of the United States' determinations, based primarily on non-compliance identifications made by the U.S. Department of Labor (USDOL). While Better Work Haiti reports are consulted as USDOL carries out its mandate to implement HOPE II, Better Work Haiti's non-compliance findings cannot, on their own, serve to impact preferential treatment under the HOPE Act.

Better Work Haiti has been implementing the first component of the TAICNAR program from 2009 until 2017, while other ILO projects, particularly the ILO-MAST capacity-building project, worked on the second component. As of 2018, with the start of the third phase of the Better Work Haiti project (2018 - 2022), Better Work also took on several elements of the second component of the TAICNAR program while carrying out activities covering TAICNAR component one. The Better Work program coordinates its work with the Labor Ombudsman and a tripartite Project Advisory Committee (PAC). This Committee meets with Better Work regularly to discuss the activities of the Better Work program. The PAC members represent the private sector, government and worker representatives, and the Labor Ombudsperson in line with the Committee's HOPE law's requirements.

Therefore, Better Work follows this two-pronged approach at the country level to improve Haiti's garment industry's working conditions and competitiveness. On the one hand, direct factory-level interventions allow deep insight into each company's compliance performance and assist in a tailored way. On the other hand, the program works with the tripartite constituents to address endemic challenges more substantially by bringing stakeholders together, sharing industry data, and offering technical assistance to address compliance challenges and capacity-building needs.

YEARS IN HAITI
- SINCE 2009

Better Work Haiti continues to work with industry stakeholders, namely the workers' and employers' organizations and the government representatives, to not only safeguard jobs in the textile and apparel sector but also to multiply them through increased productivity and demands from international buyers. Better Work Haiti continues to engage with international buyers to address the issues that concern them and the Haitian textile sector. The discussions around the renewal of the HOPE Law have given all actors an added incentive to work together to address the many non-compliance issues that may affect the sector's growth and productivity. The non-compliances related to social security have been a key point in the discussions for the renewal of the HOPE law.

According to the data published by the US Department of Commerce Office of Textiles and Apparel (OTEXA), the Haitian textile industry exported USD 433,553 million worth of products to the United States for the first five months of 2022, as compared to USD 376,715 million from January 2021 to May 2021, representing an increase of 15.09 percent. This reporting period shows 58,571 jobs in the sector, compared to 53,410 during the last reporting period.

Building on the strong partnerships Better Work has developed with the government, global brands, employers, and unions, over the next 11 years, the program will play a central role in realizing the full potential of the HOPE II Act – a preferential trade program with the US. Convening diverse stakeholders to tackle shared challenges and supporting institutions' efforts to monitor and safeguard factory compliance with international labor standards will be top priorities.

Section III: Highlights of the reporting period May 21-June 2022

COUNTRY CONTEXT

Political uncertainty remains a constant factor in Haiti, despite several rounds of discussions between government representatives and civil society opposition members. Although there have been several accords between members of civil society, including the latest one between the Montana Group and the Protocole D'entente Nationale (PEN) in January, there has not been any decision on a transitional government to replace the current prime minister. In fact, during a ministerial-level meeting convened by Canada in January to coordinate international partners' support for Haiti, Prime Minister Ariel Henry reiterated the need for inclusive dialogue. He said that his government would continue to work toward the hold of free democratic elections, despite claims that 7 February would mark the end of his government's term.

Meanwhile, the government continues to operate and has nominated several new members in its cabinet, including a new Minister of Social Affairs and Labor (MAST), a new Director for OFATMA and a new Ombudsperson for the textile sector. The government has also increased the daily minimum wage, following a series of weekly strikes that had paralyzed activities in several parts of the country, including in the textile sector. Since February, the new minimum wage in the textile sector is 685 Gourdes per working day. Although workers welcome this increase they still feel that it is not enough to cover their needs, given the high rate of inflation that has increased the cost of basic products. Workers' representatives had wanted to increase to approximately 1400 Gourdes per day¹.

Amid the difficulties, in October 2021, the new Director of the Société National des Parcs Industriels (SONAPI) announced the start of sewing classes for 100 young people at the Caracol Industrial Park. Indeed, after a long period of hiatus, the Clothing Technology Training Center (CFTV) has resumed its activities at the Caracol Industrial Park (PIC), always with the objective of serving companies in the Northeast in terms of qualified human resources. These young people are already in the sights of the S&H Global Company, which intends to integrate them into an immediate hiring process.

During this reporting period, the fuel crisis that had started since the last reporting period continues to impact business and life in general in Haiti. Several of the factories in the textile sector had difficulties operating due to shortages of raw materials, caused by the disruption in transportation. Gang violence continues to be a major concern for all sectors in Haiti. Gang violence and armed attacks against the population have surged, despite the Haitian National Police (HNP) efforts to curb crimes. Inter-gang clashes have caused the displacement of people in several areas of Port-au-Prince. Killings and kidnapping have become part of the daily life of the people living in Haiti, particularly in the Port-au-Prince area.

On the economic front, the value of the Haitian Gourdes compared to the US dollar continues to decrease. In July 2022, the Central Bank of Haiti's (Banque de la Republique d'Haiti) reference rate for exchange, was 114.54 Gourdes for one US dollar. However, the actual exchange rate at the local banks is usually higher, around 121 gourdes for 1 US dollar. In addition, there is still a scarcity of US dollars in the official market. This affects employers who need to make payments in US dollars, for ordered goods. Workers often complain to Better Work Haiti advisors that their purchasing power has significantly decreased. They feel that the increase in their daily wages is not nearly enough to help them meet their basic needs.

Labor Roundtable Conference

Towards a thriving, inclusive, and Sustainable Garment and Textiles Sector in Haiti

On May 24 and 25 2022, stakeholders from the governments of Haiti and the United States, global brands, manufacturers, worker unions, and the International Labour Organization (ILO) and the International Finance Corporation (IFC) gathered for the first time in two years. During this two-day conference which took place at the CODEVI Industrial Park, they discussed the extreme challenges that have affected the Haitian garment industry's health and workforce: the impact the COVID-19 pandemic had on the sector, socio-political instability, and labour strikes – and they shared a roadmap for the future. The billion-dollar industry accounts for 83% of export revenue and employs almost 60,000 Haitian workers, many of whom have reported food insecurity and personal safety concerns over the last two years. Better Work Haiti along with worker organizations, the employer organizations and the government stakeholders create this unique opportunity to facilitate constructive dialogue, allow constituents to exchange views on policies and actions needed to address decent work challenges and potentials and jointly discuss a short and long-term development plan to face challenges that obstruct the progress and the sustainability of the Haitian garment sector.

Discussions emphasized on the recovery of the industry; thriving manufacturing jobs that have been boosted by the extension of the Haitian Hemisphere Opportunity through Partnership Encouragement (HOPE) and the Haitian Economic Lift Program (HELP) Acts for x years in mon-year. Stakeholders' top-shared priorities cited focused on improving conditions for a vulnerable workforce affected by financial insecurity; strengthening institutions of social dialogue and freedom of association; and the outlook for sustainable improvement of the sector. The United States Department of Labor (USDOL) has been key in supporting Haiti in implementing the various aspects of the HOPE and HOPE II Legislation.

Stakeholders signed a joint "Call to Action" statement outlining priorities for the role of both unions and employers and laying out the financial impacts and immediate needs of both workers and employers in the pandemic recovery period. The resolutions adopted at this conference will follow the priorities that stakeholders set out, including achieving a higher level of factory compliance to become a more competitive sourcing country and attract more buyers; creating more decent jobs across several industrial parks; introducing a range of social services, and engaging closely with partners for pandemic recovery and sustainable development.

Section IV: Compliance situation in the Haitian garment industry

The overall trend of non-compliances in the Haitian garment industry

This section presents an overview of the non-compliance findings in 28 participating factories, which were assessed at least twice by May 2022. The overall non-compliance rate is calculated based on the total number of factories that have at least one compliance question which caused them to be non-compliant for the cluster. Thus, while the total number of factories that are non-compliant in the cluster may be high, it does not mean that each of these factories are non-compliant for all the questions in a particular cluster. Better Work Haiti conducted hybrid as well as in-person services during this period, with the support of inspectors from the Ministry of Labor. During the hybrid assessments and hybrid advisories, labor inspectors visited factories on site and Better Work staff supported them remotely. The factories' improvement plans were verified either in person during factory visits or virtually through requests for documentation during advisory services and conversations with bipartite committee members, including workers and management. The charts below present non-compliance findings for the 28 assessed factories during the reporting period, showing non-compliance rates in brackets. Please note that these reports are issued biannually, yet assessments are done annually, so issues are reported in two consecutive reports.

The highest non-compliance rates in the industry were in occupational safety and health (OSH) meaning that almost every factory had at least one violation under Emergency Preparedness and Chemicals and Hazardous substances (both at 96% non-compliance rates). Persistent non-compliance issues in compensation, particularly in relation to paid leave, remains a major concerns for both worker representatives and employer representatives, as expressed during the 2022 labor roundtable conference. Most of these non-compliance point are related to the payment of the lunch break, which according to the law is an integral part of the work day. However, workers and employers' both have concerns about the application of this law. They fear that some advantages that were previously acquired may be lost, if the law is applied as intended.

The overall trend of non-compliances in the Haitian garment industry

96%

Non-compliance on emergency preparedness remains high. Under this cluster, non-compliances on having adequate fire-fighting equipment decreased slightly from 74% to 71% since the last reporting period, and factories have shown minor improvement in keeping emergency exits accessible, unobstructed, and unlocked during working hours (71%). However, these are important challenges to be addressed.

100%

Non-compliance on social security and other benefits remains high at 100%. However, as in the compensation cluster, the non-compliance point is generally related to the non-payment of the lunch break, which is not included in the calculation of the average daily salary

96%

Non-compliance on chemical and hazardous substance management remains high. The non-compliance on storing the chemicals properly has decreased from 22% to 14%, but 79% of factories were found non-compliant on properly labeling them.

43%

The highest non-compliance point in the Employment contracts cluster is 43% and it is related to the questions about internal work rules. While most factories have a document outlining their internal work rules, this document is sometimes not approved by the Ministry of Labor, as required by law.

During this reporting period, Better Work Haiti noted two new allegations on core labor standards violations during assessments. Both cases fall under Forced labor, specifically related to coercion and they occurred at two sister factories in the same industrial park. During the assessment process, Better Work advisors interviewed workers and representatives of management to better understand the allegations and their root causes. The factory provided documents and an explanation for the decisions that led to these allegations. The details of those cases are described in Section V: Core labor standards non-compliance findings.

The overall rate of non-compliance continues to be high in the Occupational Safety and Health cluster, particularly emergency preparedness and chemicals and hazardous substances. However, when compared to the last reporting period, there has been some improvement in many of the specific compliance questions that make up the OSH cluster. For example, there continues to be some decrease in the level of non-compliance for the proper storage of chemicals, from 22% to 14%, as well as the question related the adequate washing and cleansing facility in the event of exposure to chemicals. For this question, the level of non-compliance decreased from 70% to 61%. There are other areas such as the accurate inventory of chemical products that show a minor increase in the rate of non-compliance, from 78% to 79%. The non-compliance rate for the question related to the availability of materials safety data sheets remains high. The non-compliance rate for the monitoring and prevention of workers' exposure to chemical substances, is fairly low but still represents a major concern for Better Work Haiti.

The overall rate of non-compliance in the emergency preparedness remains high at 96% for this reporting period. Violations related to preparation of workers for possible emergencies have doubled from 7% to 14% and are mostly due to the fact that many factories have not conducted two emergency drills during a 12 month period, as recommended by Better Work.

Non-compliance regarding accessible, unobstructed, or unlocked emergency exits during working hours, including overtime decreased from 78% to 71% during this reporting period. Employers have made a respectable effort to train workers in the use of fire-fighting equipment, with a non-compliance rate of 39% versus 48% reported in the last report. There has also been a significant decrease in non-compliance for factories with fire detection and alarm systems, from 48% to 36%.

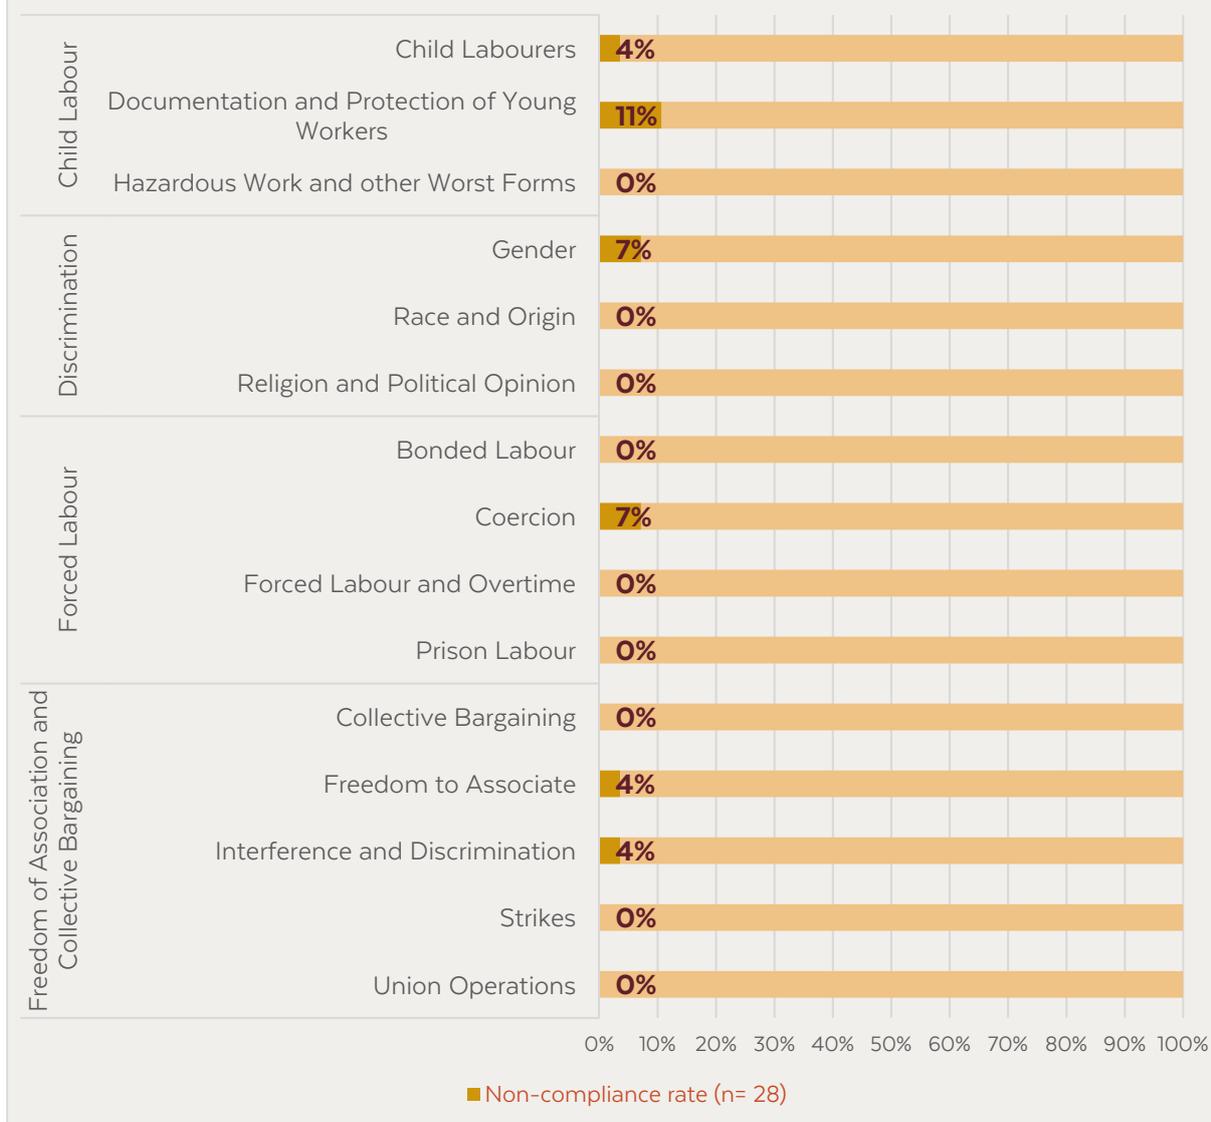

Better Work Haiti continues to address the non-compliance issues in the OSH cluster by offering training on chemical management system and emergency preparedness. Advisors also tailor their advisory sessions to address the needs of the factories in term of Occupational Safety and Health Management Systems.

In the compensation cluster, non-compliance rates related to the payment of the minimum wage is relatively low, with just 4 factories out of 28 in non-compliance. Only 2 factories out of 28 were found in non-compliance for not keeping an accurate payroll. However, the compliance points related to paid leave and social security continue to represent a point of concerns for Better Work Haiti. Both compliance points are affected in part by the law requiring factories to pay the lunch break. Although most of the factories pay all types of leave such as annual leave, sick leave and maternity leave regularly, the fact that the payment for the lunch break is not included in the calculation of the average daily salary, negatively affects those leave payments. A decision to pay the lunch break would automatically correct all those non-compliance issues. The failure to include the payment of the lunch break has a repercussion on the calculation of employer and employee's contribution to the Office retirement insurance (ONA) as well as contributions mentioned above. The Labor Round Table Conference that was held in May allowed worker representatives and employer representatives to discuss the subject. Both workers representatives and employers representatives have made it clear that they would like the government to review the law, because of the lack of clarity in its interpretation. They have asked Better Work Haiti to stop putting factories in non-compliance for not paying the lunch break. Better Work Haiti will continue to apply the law as it stands, until there are new directives from the government authorities. However the workers' representatives and the employers' representatives have agreed to work together to lobby the government to find a solution to the issue. The Association of Haitian Industries (ADIH) is taking the lead to follow up with the Ministry of Labor (MAST), to address the issue related to the law regarding the payment of the lunch break.

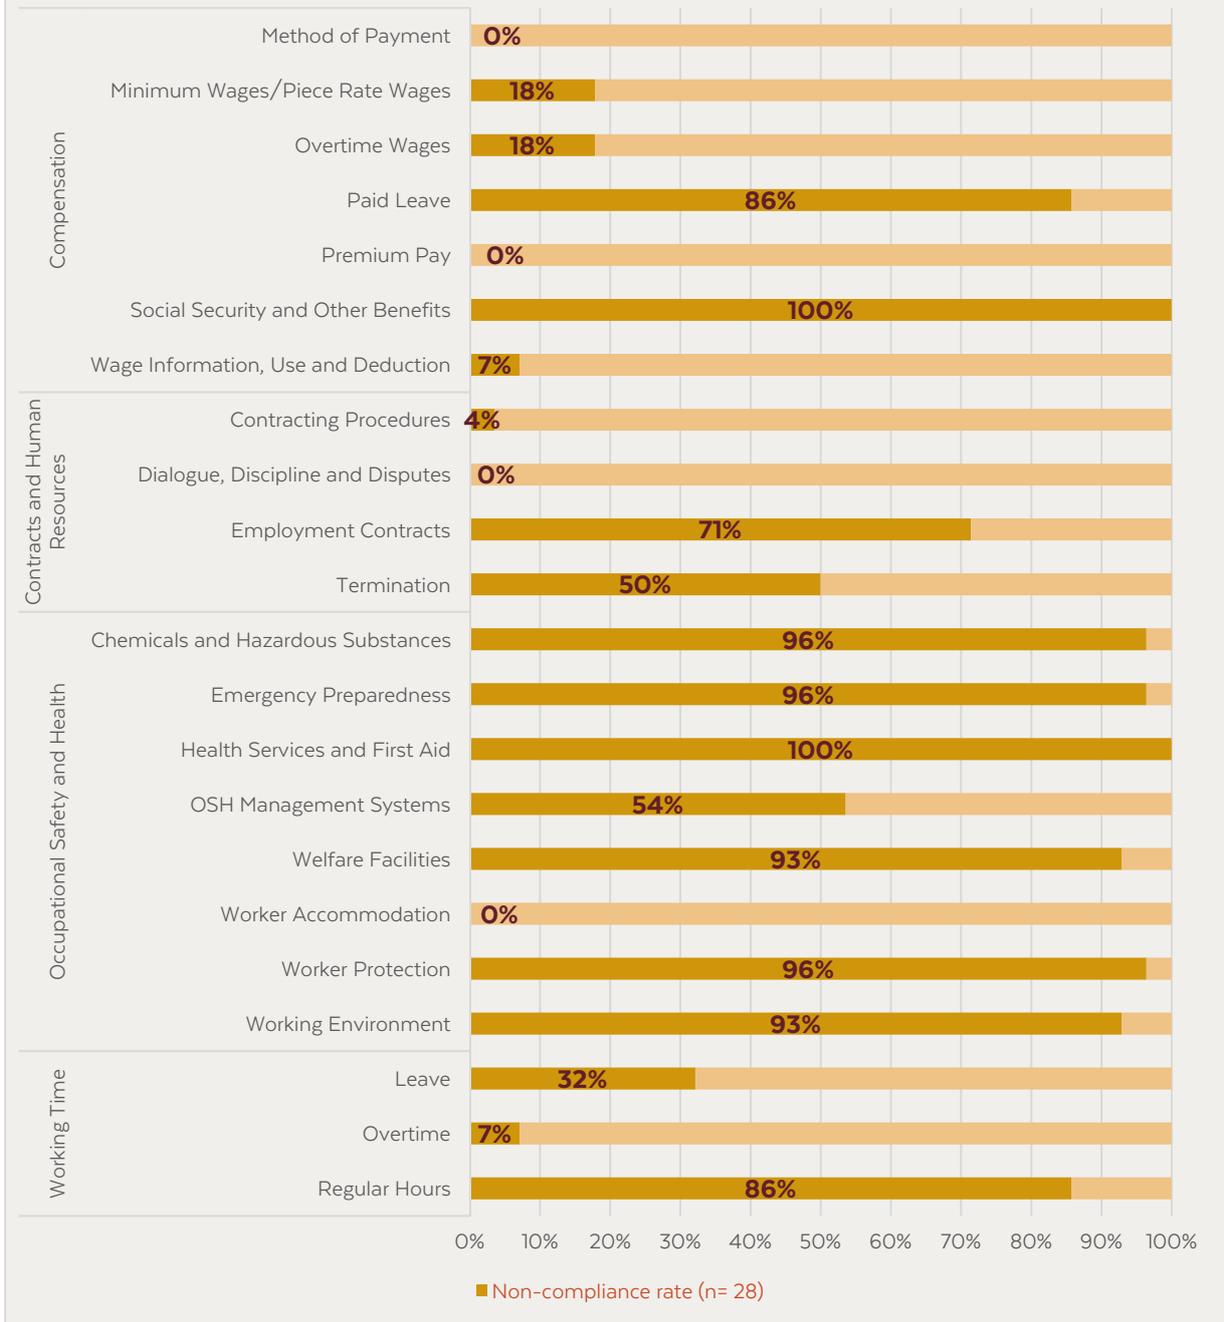

Non-compliance rates by Compliance Point - May 2021 - June 2022 (Core Labour Standards Clusters)

Non-compliance rates by Compliance Point - May 2021 - June 2022 (National Law Clusters)

Section V: Core labor standards non-compliance findings of the reporting period (May 2021 - June 2022)

During this reporting period, Better Work Haiti noted four non-compliance findings on the core labor standards during the assessments; Two sister factories were cited for forced labor under the Coercion compliance point. The factories were found in non-compliance for restricting foreign workers from leaving the industrial park during their free time and for putting an undue burden on the foreign workers, if they decide to resign from their post during the first year of their contract. Another factory was cited for non-compliance under Freedom of Association, for refusing to grant access to union members and for violating its own internal rules in the firing of union members. The same factory was also cited for non-compliance in the discrimination cluster, for failure to protect two pregnant women's job positions and wages during their pregnancies.

Factory 1&2

During assessments, Better Work Haiti advisors found that the fixed salary paid to the foreign workers, mostly from Central America, included overtime hours although the amount of overtime was not mentioned. Under Haitian Law, overtime work is voluntary. Furthermore, advisors were not able to determine if those workers were being paid properly for overtime hours worked, since the workers did use the punch system.

During assessment, advisors found that the employment contracts for foreign workers provided that they were required to fully cover the expenses to return to their home country, should they decide to resign from their post prior to completing their first year of service. Additionally, they are required to reimburse the company the cost of the airfare to come to Haiti. The factory's management explained to assessors that it was the same type of contract they use for foreign workers in other countries.

The second non-compliance relates to the prohibition on foreign managers leaving the industrial park even during weekends and holidays. Management explained that due security concerns in the country, they were forced to take steps to ensure the safety of the foreign workers. During the assessment, Better Work Staff advised the factory's management to discuss the issue with the foreign workers and inform them about the security risks, and to allow them to leave the industrial park with the understanding that they are aware of the risks and are responsible for their own safety and security once they are outside the industrial complex.

Upon advise from Better Work Haiti, the factories have taken the necessary steps to review the foreign workers' contracts, to address all the issues that were pointed out by the assessment team. They have also reviewed their policy to allow foreign workers to leave the industrial complex during their off days.

Factory 3

During the assessment at factory 3, assessors were informed that thirty-five union members were fired for wearing t-shirts with the name of their union affiliation inside the factory. Upon further investigation, Better Work Haiti assessors found that some of the union members already had several warning letters in their record. The union leaders claimed that they were fired because they recently joined a union, given that those warning letter had been in their files months before they were dismissed. In addition, there were a few union members who did not have any prior warnings. Better Work Haiti found the factory in non-compliance for violating its own internal work rules, which include a temporary suspension between one and eight days without pay, prior to terminating a worker after several warnings. The factory was advised to consistently apply its own internal work rules. Better Work Haiti further recommends that the factory update its policy on freedom of association to clearly define the roles and responsibilities of both parties, to improve the quality of social dialogue and industrial relations and to train its staff on the revised policy.

During the assessment at factory 3, interviews with two breastfeeding women revealed that the factory changed their position, salary and benefits during maternity leave. The documents examined showed that their salary was lower than it was before they went on maternity leave. The factory immediately took the necessary steps to correct the issue. The women were placed in a different module where they are earning the same salary as prior to their maternity leave.

Section VI: Better Work key activities during the reporting period

During this reporting period, Better Work Haiti continued to implement its mandate, in person and through a hybrid model, by delivering its core services to participating factories as well as engaging with other key stakeholders including MAST labor inspectors. Several training sessions for bipartite committees were however delivered in person as well as training on Gender Based Violence and Harassment (GBVH).

During this reporting period, Better Work Haiti leadership held several meetings with the newly appointed minister of Social Affairs and Labor (MAST), the new Director of the Office for Accident, Maternity and Health Insurance (OFATMA) and the newly appointed Ombudsperson, to discuss several issues related Better Work activities in the textile sector, including the persistent non-compliance in social security contributions and the constant industrial relations problems. All the government representatives have pledged to collaborate and support Better Work activities in the sector.

During this reporting period, Better Work advisors and trainers delivered several training sessions to participating factories as well as government stakeholders and union leaders, covering topics such as Freedom of Association, Understanding Gender, Human Trafficking and Child Labor, Emergency Preparedness, Prevention of Sexual Harassment, negotiation skills and Chemical Products Management. Better Work Haiti offered a total of 10 training sessions to 1052 participants, including 398 females, from 29 factories. The participants are now better prepared to face the challenges related to the aforementioned situations.

In February 2022, Better Work Haiti, in collaboration with ILO Normes and the Legal Section of the Ministry of Social Affairs and Labor (MAST), held a two-day training session, in Port au Prince, on Human Trafficking and Forced Labor. Another session was held later in May in the Northeast.

SUPERVISORY SKILLS TRAINING

Better Work Haiti also provided a training on negotiation skills to participating factories and labor inspectors from MAST Labor Inspectorate division. During this training, 56 participants, including 19 women were introduced to the basic elements of negotiation. Participants in the training learned how improved negotiation skills can help them resolve disputes and lead to better labor relations. They have acquired the necessary skills to develop the appropriate strategies for negotiations and to become more assertive negotiators.

SUPERVISORY SKILLS TRAINING

The supervisory skills training was provided to participant to help them acquire the knowledge to develop the proper strategies to become effective supervisors. The training focused on communication skills, leadership, coaching, delegation, motivation, and team building skills. A total of 16 factories took part in the training with a 115 participants including 33 women.

OCCUPATIONAL SAFETY AND HEALTH

Factories continue to struggle with Occupational Safety and Health issues (OSH) that are putting them in non-compliance. Realizing that the two main non-compliance points in OSH are related chemical management and emergency preparedness,] a training session on, chemical management system was delivered to the inspectors from the Ministry of Labor (MAST) inspectorate division. 8 inspectors including 2 women participated in the training session delivered by Better Work Haiti's training officer. Consequently, they can better identify the issues during inspections.

Better Work Haiti also built the capacity of 14 participants including 5 women in emergency preparedness at a factory in the Northeast. With such training, they are now able to to address non-compliance issues as they emerge during assessments. This factory had selected this training, based on conversations with its advisor and members of its bipartite committee, after noticing a non-compliance rate of 30% in the questions related to emergency preparedness in their last assessment data.

GENDER

Better Work Haiti puts great emphasis on addressing gender related non-compliance issues in the factories. Since 2018, BWH has worked with factories to set up remediation policies and execution of the Prevention of Sexual Harassment (POSH) training for supervisors and managers. Better Work advisors regularly help factories review their sexual harassment policy and procedures to help them identify and reduce sexual harassment in the workplace. During the reporting period, Better Work Haiti delivered four training sessions on the prevention of sexual harassment to participating factories as well as associations of worker representatives. There were a total of 426 participants in these sessions, of whom 155 were females. Participants in these trainings have expressed better understanding of the different forms of sexual harassment that may occur in the workplace. However, in discussions that took place during the training sessions, they often reflect on the difficulties to deal with the issue, given its sensitive nature. They feel that more workers need to be trained on the topic in order to have a greater impact.

In April 2022, Better Work Haiti introduced the new training module on Gender Based Violence and Harassment (GBVH) to three factories in the Northeast. Better Work Haiti realized that the current sexual harassment prevention training did not fully focus on the wellbeing of the victim but rather tried to find a solution after the alleged harassment occurred. Furthermore, the grievance mechanism in place did not really address the reporting of other types of violence as the current mechanisms focused more on investigating the case rather than the needs of the victim. It did not include any type of psychosocial first aid or referral procedures in case the victim requested such help. Additionally, Better Work advisors did not have the necessary skills to help the factories approached the subject in a broader spectrum either; their focus was also on the prevention of sexual harassment and not on gender-based violence as a whole. As a result of this training, the participants have broadened their understanding of the concept of GBVH, which includes different types of violence based on gender, as opposed to the simpler forms of sexual harassment prevention training they are familiar with. Following the introductory course on Gender-Based Violence and Harassment, Better Work Haiti advisors performed a gap analysis of the factories' existing grievance mechanism and discussed ways to adapt it to make it more suitable to address grievances related to GBVH. The factories were also introduced to the concept of Psychosocial First Aid. The participants are now better prepared to meet the needs of the alleged victims. The trainings were conducted over a four day session in which factory managers, compliance officers, human resource officers, as well as some worker representatives participated.

COLLABORATION WITH THE GOVERNMENT

With the support of Better Work Haiti, the Office of the Labor Ombudsperson for the textile sector (BMST) has started the implementation of its digital Complaint Management Solution aimed to improve its quality and performance in the industrial conflict handling process within the garment sector. The Office of the Labor Ombudsperson receives an average of a dozen in-person reported cases monthly on several issues such as contract disputes, working hours, payment to the social security system, and maternity leave payments, to name a few. The traditional paper-based conflict handling method/mechanism does not efficiently meet the current and future requirements of the working relationships in the mass employment environment of the Haitian apparel industry. This new system will improve the conflict handling operations, especially with distance reporting and tracking for parties and transparent centralized collaborative work within BMST, the Ministry of Labor and Social Affairs (MAST), Better Work Haiti, and other involved parties.

During this reporting period, Better Work Haiti provided a training session on chemical product management in which 12 labor inspectors including three women participated. The participants have now a better mastery of the tools and good practices on how to effectively handle chemicals products. At the end of the session, participants have demonstrated greater sensibility regarding chemical product storage and labelling, exposure prevention strategies and how to allocate responsibilities for chemical product management.

Two training sessions on human trafficking and forced labor were offered to MAST labor inspectors, representatives from Office Nationale d'Assurance Vieillesse (National Office for Old-Age Insurance), Office d'Assurance Accidents du Travail, Maladie et Maternité (Office for Work, Health and Maternity Insurance) conciliators and magistrates of the Special Labor tribunal. Participants in this training have acquired the necessary knowledge to help them identify cases of human trafficking and forced labor in the workplace. The participants have a good grip of the national labor laws and ILO conventions ratified by Haiti with an approach based on human trafficking and forced labor. In the session that was held in Port au Prince, there were thirty-two participants including nine women who took part in this two-day training session. In the session that occurred in the Northeast, there were 29 participants including 10 women.

SOCIAL DIALOGUE AT THE FACTORY LEVEL

One of the strategies of Better Work Haiti is to increase worker participation in the decision making process through increased social dialogue. Since its inception, Better Work has promoted the concept of bipartite committee at the factory level to increase social dialogue and address issues of non-compliance which will lead to increased productivity and better working conditions. To this end, Better Work Haiti is focused on ensuring that all factories have a functional bipartite committee. During this reporting period, Better Work Haiti trainers and advisors supported the creation of bipartite committees at 8 factories. A total of 62 worker representatives and factory management representatives, including 25 women are more cognizant regarding the role and responsibilities of the bipartite committee and are more conscious about ways to use social dialogue to prevent and solve issues that may arise within the factory.

NEW TRAINING MODULES

During this reporting period, Better Work Haiti piloted a webinar on Intercultural Communication in the Textile Industry, in which 7 participants from 4 factories were all male. As a result of this webinar, factory managers and supervisors, have mastered the importance and relevance of good intercultural communication in a workplace where people from different cultural backgrounds are interacting. Stronger diversity and inclusion can lead to more harmonious working relations, a more stable workforce, less absenteeism, better productivity, and less stress for everyone, irrespective of job or grade.

125

Virtual advisory sessions to 39 participating factories

Covering a wide range of topics, including the prevention of COVID-19. Advisory services are conducted with the bipartite committee members' participation, including representatives of workers and management. During the advisory services, workers' representatives are encouraged to speak freely and discuss relevant issues. Better Work Haiti also ensures that women are represented in the bipartite committees.

40

Training sessions to 33
factories (51.2% women)

Better Work Haiti delivered 40 training sessions on 10 topics to 33 factories in Port-au-Prince and the Northeast. A total of 1464 workers and management staff, 750 were women, and 724 were men, were trained on COVID-19 preventive measures and responses, sexual harassment prevention, emergency preparedness, understanding gender as well as socially responsible transitioning.

FINDINGS FROM THE FACTORIES

This section reports on the factories' detailed compliance performance as required by the HOPE II legislation. The HOPE II legislation requires the entity implementing the TAICNAR program (the ILO) to publish a biannual report with specific information on factories' compliance performance. The report is supposed to cover the preceding 6-month period. It should include detailed compliance information for each producer (see annex 1 for the exact requirements of the HOPE II legislation), including the details of non-compliance points identified, efforts of the producer to remediate the non-compliance points, and the time elapsed since the deficiencies have first been identified. This information is captured in the factory tables in the following section.

The full compliance assessment tool (CAT) used by Better Work Haiti can be accessed online.² When a compliance point is not listed for a factory, it means that the factory has been in compliance on this point in both of its last two assessments by Better Work. The reference point is always the complete list of compliance points and issues listed in Better Work's compliance assessment methodology section. A factory needs to have been assessed at least two times before its information will be published in this report's factory table. The columns in the tables correspond to specific reporting requirements of the HOPE legislation and provide additional information as follows:

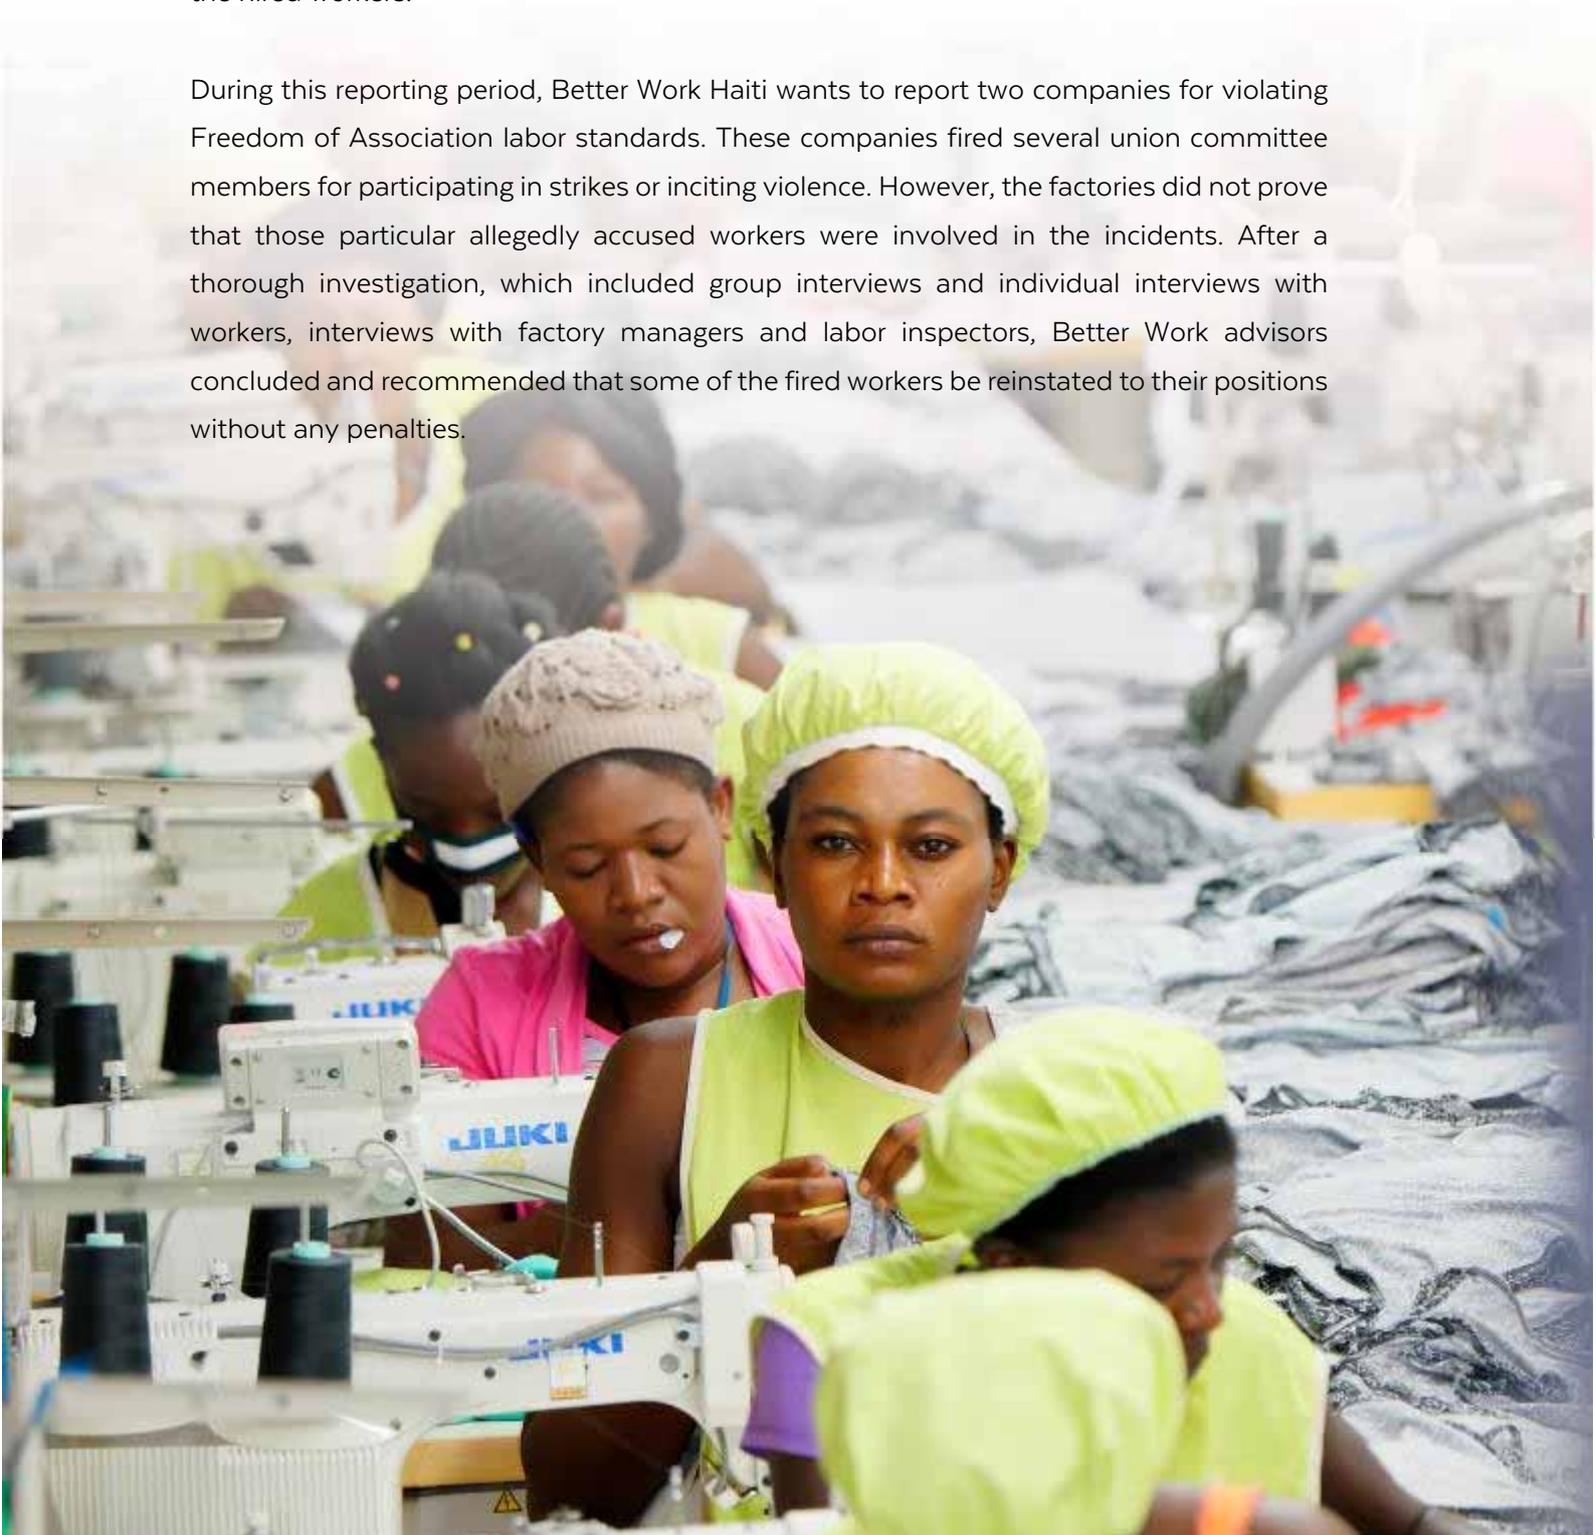

- ◆ Details on the non-compliance identified by EAs: the information included in this column constitutes the issues where evidence of non-compliance was found in one of the last two assessments conducted by Better Work at each particular factory (the date of the last two assessments is equally indicated for each factory on top of its table).
- ◆ Improvement priorities identified by the factory;
- ◆ Efforts made by the factory to remedy the compliance needs as verified in the most recent assessment or advisory visit;
- ◆ For non-compliance areas that have not been remediated, the amount of time has elapsed since the non-compliance was first identified at this factory.

Additional information corresponding to HOPE II reporting requirements is provided in the section above each table, e.g., advisory and training services provided by Better Work.

One company received a non-compliance in the child labor cluster during this period, although Better Work Haiti did not find any child laborers in the factory. However, the factory failed to implement the proper management system to verify the age of the workers. The company did not keep the proper documentation, such as a picture ID or birth certificate for the hired workers.

During this reporting period, Better Work Haiti wants to report two companies for violating Freedom of Association labor standards. These companies fired several union committee members for participating in strikes or inciting violence. However, the factories did not prove that those particular allegedly accused workers were involved in the incidents. After a thorough investigation, which included group interviews and individual interviews with workers, interviews with factory managers and labor inspectors, Better Work advisors concluded and recommended that some of the fired workers be reinstated to their positions without any penalties.

Annex 1: The TAICNAR Project and Reporting Requirements under the HOPE II Legislation

In 2006, the United States Congress enacted the Haiti Hemispheric Opportunity through Partnership Encouragement Act of 2006 (HOPE), expanding preferences for Haitian apparel established under the Caribbean Basin Economic Recovery Act, thus enabling the Haitian apparel industry to benefit from new duty-free preferences. In 2008, these preferences were further expanded through HOPE II legislation, which also established new standards and programs strengthening and monitoring working conditions in the apparel sector. On May 24, 2010, the Haiti Economic Lift Program of 2010 (HELP Act) was signed into law to expand existing preferences to contribute to Haiti's economic growth and development in both the textile and apparel sectors. Among its provisions, the HELP Act extended almost all of the trade preferences established under HOPE and HOPE II. In 2015, the US Government extended the Haiti HELP/HOPE provisions until 2025.

To benefit from HOPE/HOPE II/HELP, Haiti was required to establish an independent Labor Ombudsman appointed by the President of the Republic in consultation with the private sector and the trade unions. Haiti was also required to work with the ILO to develop a technical assistance program to (i) assess and promote compliance with core labor standards and national labor law in the factories that are eligible for tariff advantages under HOPE II and (ii) provide assistance to the Government of Haiti in order to strengthen its capacity in the process of inspection of facilities.

Finally, Haiti needed to develop a mechanism for ensuring that all producers benefiting from the HOPE II trade preferences participated in the TAICNAR program. This was referred to in the legislation as the Technical Assistance Improvement and Compliance Needs Assessment and Remediation (TAICNAR) program. The TAICNAR program consists of two components:

TAICNAR Program Component 1: Compliance Assessments and Remediation Support

The HOPE law states that the first component of the TAICNAR program is “to assess compliance by producers listed in the registry described in paragraph (2) (B) (i) with the conditions set forth in subparagraph (B) and to assist such producers in meeting such conditions.”

Better Work has been covering this part of the TAICNAR program since its launch in 2009. It has to be noted that Better Work offers several services that go beyond the requirements of the HOPE legislation, in particular the collaboration with international brands through sharing of factory assessment reports, joint support for factories regarding the improvement plan used during advisory services (corrective action plan), specific training and specific projects and events such as the annual buyers and multi-stakeholders forum. With the introduction of fees to be paid by factories for participation in the Better Work Haiti program since 2016, it has been decided that non-paying factories will receive all Better Work core services (advisory, training, and one annual assessment) in line with the requirements of the HOPE legislation. Factories that pay their subscription fee will have access to the full offer of Better Work services beyond core services only.

TAICNAR Program Component 2: Technical assistance to strengthen the legal and administrative structures for improving compliance in the industry

The HOPE law states that the second component of the TAICNAR program is “to provide assistance to improve the capacity of the Government of Haiti – (I) to inspect facilities of producers listed in the registry described in paragraph (2)(B)(i); and (II) to enforce labor laws and resolve labor disputes, including through measures described in subparagraph E.”

The ILO has been conducting different activities under this component, mainly in the context of the USDOL-funded ILO/MAST Capacity Building project, which aimed to strengthen the Ministry’s capacities to improve apparel factories’ compliance with international standards and national labor laws. The project ran from 2014 to 2017 and was closely linked to the Better Work program.

As of 2018 and with Better Work’s new 5-year strategy in Haiti, the program will continue to build on the efforts of this MAST capacity-building program. The revised project strategy emphasizes the capacity building of all tripartite constituents – Government, employer, and worker organizations – as part of the sustainability efforts of the Better Work program.

The HOPE II law specifies which information needs to be included in the biannual reports published by the TAICNAR program regarding the reporting requirements. See the text box below for the original text of the law.

SEC. 15403. LABOR OMBUDSMAN AND TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE IMPROVEMENT AND COMPLIANCE NEEDS ASSESSMENT AND REMEDIATION PROGRAM.

[...] (D) BIENNIAL REPORT. —The biennial reports referred to in subparagraph (C)(i) are a report, by the entity operating the TAICNAR Program, that is published (and available to the public in a readily accessible manner) on a biennial basis, beginning 6 months after Haiti implements the TAICNAR Program under this paragraph, covering the preceding 6-month period, and that includes the following:

(i) The name of each producer listed in the registry described in paragraph (2)(B)(i) that has been identified as having met the conditions under subparagraph (B).

(ii) The name of each producer listed in the registry described in paragraph (2)(B)(i) that has been identified as having deficiencies with respect to the conditions under subparagraph (B), and has failed to remedy such deficiencies.

(iii) For each producer listed under clause (ii) —

(I) a description of the deficiencies found to exist and the specific suggestions for remediating such deficiencies made by the entity operating the TAICNAR Program;

(II) a description of the efforts by the producer to remediate the deficiencies, including a description of assistance provided by any entity to assist in such remediation; and

(III) with respect to deficiencies that have not been remediated, the amount of time that has elapsed since the deficiencies were first identified in a report under this subparagraph.

(iv) For each producer identified as having deficiencies with respect to the conditions described under subparagraph (B) in a prior report under this subparagraph, a description of the progress made in remediating such deficiencies since the submission of the prior report, and an assessment of whether any aspect of such deficiencies persists. Annex 2. Better Work's Service Delivery Model

The key principles of Better Work's revised service model are ownership, accountability, dialogue, and partnership. The core services offered to factories are advisory services, an annual assessment, and training services.

Better Work's service delivery model stresses the importance of advisory services with a stronger focus on assistance on management systems, root cause analysis, and continuous learning. Better Work acknowledges the fact that auditing alone cannot contribute to sustainable remediation of non-compliances. Assessments provide a snapshot of the compliance issues, yet they do not add significant value to improvements of factories' compliance performance. Therefore, the focus in the services that Better Work delivers to factories is on continuous learning and improvements working with factories on root causes underlying repeated non-compliance issues.

Since 2015, a factory cycle no longer starts with an assessment on which advisory services afterward were built in the initial approach. Instead, under the revised Better work service delivery model, the cycle now starts with approximately 100 days of advisory services. With its bipartite Committee, the factory can conduct a self-diagnosis with the support of its Better Work Enterprise Advisor and can work on immediate improvements where possible. The unannounced Better Work assessment is then conducted after the initial period of advisory and training services.

Following the assessment, the advisory process continues, focusing on enabling the bipartite Committee to address issues listed in the improvement plan. The improvement plan includes issues that the factory has self-diagnosed and identified during the Better Work assessment. In addition, factories will be supported through tailored factory visits, issue-specific seminars (on topics relevant to the country/industry) with peers from other factories, and training appropriate to the factory's specific needs.

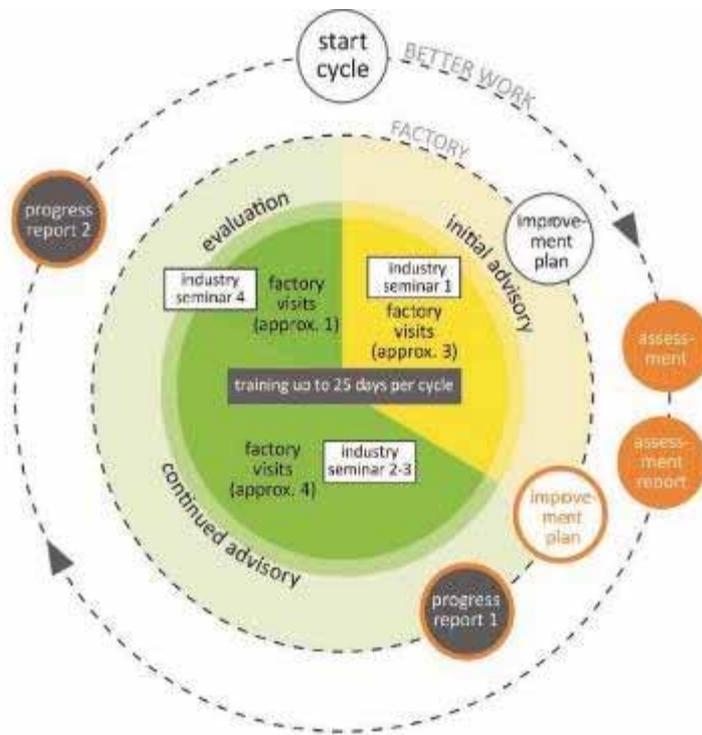

Better Work reporting has two elements - reports completed and verified by the Better Work program and completed and released directly by factories. The Better Work factory reports consist of the assessment report released roughly 30 days after the unannounced assessment visit. Then later in the cycle, in the 11th month of the cycle, Better Work then publishes a progress report detailing improvements on compliance issues and in-factory dialogue, continuous learning, and effective management systems. Better Work also provides additional recommendations in this report to further strengthen the improvement process. Factories report through the Better Work portal. This portal is the platform that is also used by Better Work to share factory data with authorized international brands that subscribed to a specific factory in either of the Better Work country programs. The enhanced portal with the revised self-reporting function also offers the opportunity for factories to update their improvement plan themselves. The improvement plan lists a factory's non-compliance points from the last Better Work independent assessment together with any other issues that the factory itself identified as areas for improvement. Once the factory updates its improvement plan online, the information is immediately available to buyers and Better Work. However, this feature has some limitations with regards to the factories' editing rights as only Better Work can update the status of a non-compliance issue from "delayed," "pending," or "in progress" to "completed" after verification of evidence of remediation.

Factory reporting then continues with the first progress report, which is published approximately five months after the start of the cycle. This report includes progress made to date on all self-diagnosed issues and those identified by Better Work during the assessment. This report has a pre-set structure from Better Work, and it is made available to authorized buyers and indicates initial progress and planned steps for the remainder of the cycle. The Better Work role for this first progress report will be limited to coaching factories on how to engage in effective self-reporting and ensure continued progress on closing areas of non-compliance. The Better Work Enterprise Advisors then write their progress reports towards the end of an annual cycle of each factory.

An overview of the sequence of the different components of the Better Work service model under this revised approach can be found in the illustration below:

Sequence and components of annual Cycle under Better Work's revised service delivery model.

In 2017, Better Work started to differentiate factories depending on their performance. Factories that are scoring high enough in terms of compliance performance and the areas of dialogue and learning encompass the criteria that need to be satisfied before a factory can be qualified for “stage two.” Better Work will classify factories as being in “stage two” if they consistently demonstrate high levels of compliance, a mature level of social dialogue, effective management systems, and a commitment to learning. Those criteria will be evaluated based on information collected during two consecutive assessments. Factories that have not yet met this benchmark will be classified as “stage one.” For factories that have been with Better Work for several years, service differentiation will respond to requests for greater autonomy in the day-to-day advisory service, fewer assessments, and tailored service that responds to their more advanced needs, for example relating to systems development, purchasing practices, productivity and quality, and mature industrial relations.

Annex 3. The Better Work Compliance Assessment Methodology

BETTER WORK COMPLIANCE ASSESSMENT FRAMEWORK

The Better Work program assesses factory compliance with core international labor standards and national labor law. Following assessments, a detailed report is prepared. Findings are shared with the factory presenting findings on eight clusters, or categories, of labor standards, half of which are based on international standards and half on national legislation.

Core labor standards: The ILO Declaration on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work, adopted in 1998, calls upon the Member States to respect and promote these principles and rights in four areas, whether or not they have ratified the relevant conventions. These categories, or clusters, are freedom of association and collective bargaining, the elimination of forced or compulsory labor, the abolition of child labor, and the elimination of discrimination in employment and occupation. The conventions on which the 1998 Declaration is based are Nos. 29, 87, 98, 105, 100, 111, 138, 182, and they form the reference base in assessing factory compliance with fundamental rights for all the Better Work programs in various countries. For some issues, such as minimum legal working age, provisions in national law specify requirements for the application of international conventions. If national law is not consistent with international standards pertaining to core labor standards, the international standards are applied. Haiti has ratified all eight core Conventions listed above. According to the Haitian Constitution, ratified conventions become self-executing and, therefore, part of Haitian law.

Working Conditions: The four other clusters assess conditions at work, including compensation, contracts and human resources, occupational safety and health, and working time. The compliance points covered in these clusters are broadly consistent across countries; however, each compliance point contains specific questions that may vary from country to country due to differences in national legislation. National legislation is used as a reference point even if it is not in accordance with the international conventions that the country has ratified. In countries where national law either fails to address or lacks clarity around a relevant issue regarding conditions at work, Better Work establishes a benchmark based on international standards and good practices.

CALCULATING NON-COMPLIANCE & PUBLIC REPORTING

In public synthesis reports, Better Work reports aggregated non-compliance in the participating industry, as shown in Chart 1. Non-compliance is reported for each subcategory (compliance point, or “CP”) of the eight labor standards clusters. A factory is reported as non-compliant in a subcategory if it is found to be out of compliance on any issue addressed within the subcategory. With respect to the figures presented in synthesis reports, for example, a non-compliance rate of 100% means that all participating factories were found to have at least one violation in that area.

The Better Work program supports fair and transparent public reporting. In all Better Work country programs, synthesis reports containing aggregated information on the industry are prepared based on the individual factory assessment reports and published twice a year. Better, work is currently expanding its reporting in the other Better Work countries to include individual factory-level compliance information, as is already the case for Haiti. Evidence shows that public reporting of this kind helps encourage continuous improvement and reduces the probability of reversing compliance gains. In addition, gathering and reporting these data over time enables factories to demonstrate their efforts to improve working conditions.

LIMITATIONS IN THE ASSESSMENT PROCESS

The factory-level assessments carried out by Better Work Haiti follow a thorough checklist of about 230 questions covering the above-mentioned labor standards and gathering general information about the factory.⁴ Information is gathered through various sources and techniques, including document review, observations on the factory floor, and interviews with managers, workers union representatives, bipartite committee members, or other relevant witnesses. Finally, the information collected is compiled and analyzed to produce a detailed assessment report. Before the reports become official, factories are given seven calendar days to provide feedback.

Worker interviews conducted during the assessment process are held onsite, either in a private room within the factory building or outside the building (yard, eating area), and either in small groups or individually. Interviews are conducted in Creole, the primary language of the workers. Workers may be suspicious and feel uneasy about sharing information in their workplaces with people who are not well known. In addition, coaching of workers by factory management is a possible issue in the industry in general. Nevertheless, after fourteen assessment cycles conducted over more than seven years, Better Work Haiti Enterprise Advisors have become more experienced at collecting information and interviewing workers. Together with other activities led by Better Work, Haiti has created an environment where workers are more comfortable discussing working conditions. Interviews with workers cover many aspects of life at work and last approximately 20 minutes. On average, 40 workers representing different sections of the factories and union representatives are interviewed.

Violations in core labor standards such as sexual harassment or freedom of association are sensitive and are more difficult to detect during factory assessments. The assessment of violation of freedom of association issues in the workplace is sometimes difficult to assess in a two days assessment. There are several reasons for that. One challenge is that some labor unions are organized at the sectoral level rather than at the factory level, where small union cells predominate. Another challenge is that, for example, the termination of unionists usually happens after a series of events. Key witnesses might have been terminated before the assessment days. Also, supporting documents might not have the level of details required to determine non-compliance. Better Work is basing its assessment findings on triangulation of facts, which requires sufficient evidence to find a factory in non-compliance on a particular compliance point. Some issues are, therefore, not always easy to confirm. As more unions are present in the factories today, workers are more aware of their rights regarding freedom of association. Workers, therefore, are also demonstrating an increased level of openness to discuss this subject during interviews. In addition, Better Work collects information about specific cases as unions, or other stakeholders share them at any given time of the year. During the assessment at a particular factory, specific questions can be asked about any case previously raised, and information may therefore enter the assessment report.

The assessment usually visits last two days, and because it is a picture of the moment, some situations that might lead to non-compliance points in the future are not reported. It is also important to keep in mind that non-compliance issues might be identified during the advisory cycle through the self-diagnosis process. Better Work supports factories to reinforce their capacity to conduct a self-diagnosis and develop an improvement plan that includes points beyond the Better Work assessment. For all the issues included in the improvement plan, additional information is stated, such as the action to be taken and the person responsible for it within the company. All this information in return and the remediation efforts are then documented in the progress reports.

As Better Work is moving into a differentiated approach where services for advanced factories will be different from those for factories that still require more assistance, the evaluation of the performance of a factory will not only be limited to the assessment data. Still, it will also include information gathered in those progress reports.

Another issue that may be challenging to detect during an assessment is sexual harassment which is included in Better Work Haiti's compliance assessment tool. Like other countries, it is one of the most sensitive and most difficult issues to detect during factory assessments. As a result, the assessment of sexual harassment in the workplace by Better Work Haiti is likely to underreport the extent of its occurrence. However, sexual harassment remains an issue of concern in the industry in general. As mentioned, Better Work is basing its assessment findings on triangulation of facts, which requires sufficient evidence to find a factory in non-compliance on a particular compliance point, and some issues are not always easy to detect. Although concerns regarding sexual harassment persist, Better Work Haiti has seen positive developments on the topic, with factories acknowledging the issue as a potential problem and demonstrating an increased openness to address it. Several factories are therefore working on the prevention of sexual harassment in the workplace. In particular, Better Work's supervisory skills training has contributed to raising awareness of this issue among supervisors in more than half of the factories in Haiti.

Simple auditing of factory compliance has been widely acknowledged as limited in rectifying compliance issues. Furthermore, factories wishing not to disclose certain information can do so without focusing on the long-term business benefits of improving their working conditions. This is why Better Work's approach at the factory level is much broader in its scope, focusing on continuous improvements through advisory and training services, emphasizing the importance of effective systems and the involvement of workers.
